Details indicating the approved plan outlays of all the States, including Maharashtra and Gujarat for 1992-93 and 1993-94 as well as revised outlays in these two years, is given in Annexure. [See Appendix 170, Annexure 84]. Several States had to seek revision in their plan outlays in these two years on account of shortfall in their own contribution to plan funding and lower utilisation of external aid for projects.

The Planning Commission has always impressed upon the States the need to make more contribution towards plan financing by way of additional resource mobilisation, improvement in the working of State level public enterprises, economy in expenditure, improved collection of small savings etc.
